Staley Payments: Open for Business

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (August 10, 2020) - Staley Technologies Payment Solutions, LLC, headquartered in Little Rock, Arkansas, announced today, they are open for business. Staley Payments provides innovative software and hardware solutions for merchants in all 50 states, allowing them to accept payments in any environment; while ensuring a healthy and mutually beneficial relationship with clients and partners.

Staley Payments will help customers drastically reduce credit card processing fees to add more revenue back to the bottom line, with its turn-key approach to merchant services.

The launch of Staley Payments includes a strategic partnership with Staley Technologies - owned and operated by Andrew Faulkner, CEO. This strategic partnership creates a full coverage solution that provides robust offerings of POS systems and kiosks; CCTV and access controls, digital signage, network infrastructure, payment processing, sales, and customer support.

“Andrew Faulkner and I have worked together many times throughout my career. We always shared the same values and business practices when it comes to serving partners and customers. I knew that partnering with Andrew would allow me to build a processing company that embodies ethics and a customer-first mindset.” said Jessica Casto, co-owner and President of Staley Payments.

Staley Payments is a female-owned and operated merchant services provider in Arkansas. Co-owned by Jessica Casto and Andrew Faulkner, the organization is founded on their vision of transparency, integrity and passion™ in the card payments space.
